Washburn in State-Wide Telecast Against 3rd-cent Sales Tax Thursday, Friday

This week I am taking my fight against the 3rd-cent hike in the sales tax to the people of Arkansas in a state-wide telecast.

At the same time I will appeal for the organization of an Arkansas League of Voters — to fight unfair tax measures in the lobby-ridden legislature by holding over it the constant threat of a petition to refer tax laws to a popular vote.

I am paying personally for the TV network, totaling $1,848.75 — just as I have previously spent $9,091.03 personally on referral petitions to defeat the legislative lobbyists.

As a result of these expenditures you are going to get a chance to knock the 3% sales tax on groceries and medicine down to 2% by voting against Act 19 next Tuesday.

And in this speech I will tell the public school teachers and the old folks of Arkansas exactly how the state can find money for them after the 3rd-cent sales tax is defeated — as it is going to be.

Thursday, October 30, from 7 to 7:30 p. m., I will speak over the three stations at Little Rock: KTHV (Channel 11), KARK (Channel 4), KATV (Channel 7); and the Fort Smith station, KNAC (Channel 5).

I will repeat the speech in person Friday, October 31, from 7 to 7:30 over the Texarkana station, KCMC-TV (Channel 6), with a simultaneous pickup scheduled tentatively on the El Dorado station, KRBB (Channel 10).

If what I say makes sense to you I will appreciate your help both as members and donors in organizing an Arkansas League of Voters.

My own expenditures are a closed book. You owe me nothing.

All donations will be banked for future use of the League of Voters — to fight the rich and arrogant lobbies which control the Arkansas legislature — and against which the common people have no defense except the threat to petition for a popular vote.

I have made two state-wide petition campaigns — and I know what I am talking about.

Rescuers Bring Out Last of 13 Bodies in Mine

By CHARLES R. LEWIS

SHIMMERSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Rescuers brought out the last of 13 bodies from the blast-shattered workings of a southeastern West Virginia coal mine early today.

Four other men who miraculously escaped death after being trapped underground were hospitalized in Richwood.

Tuesday was the second straight day for tragedy to strike the coal fields.

Only the day before, 22 men were killed in an explosion at the Bishop, Va., mine of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. on the Virginia-West Virginia border.

Tuesday's blast centered a mile and a half deep in the Burton mine of the Oglebay-Norton Co., a Cleveland-based mining, marketing, ore and shipping concern between here and Richwood.

Fifty-four men were at work underground, but 37 were working on the surface-side of the explosion and scurried to safety with out injury.

The Burton operation is a slope mine, bored into the side of Curtin Mountain. It is located in a barely accessible hollow on the banks of the small Gauley River in Nicholas County.

The first of four men rescued reached the surface on his own feet, leaning on the shoulders of his rescuers, some four hours after the blast. He was Artie Humphreys of Craigsville.

Three others, two of them horribly burned, were brought out on stretchers.

In critical condition were Paul Davis, Craigsville, and William Tucker, Persinger. Less seriously burned was Okey Donaldson, Summersville.

Among the dead were mine Supt. O. C. Gates and Asst. Supt. Eddie Stephenson, both of Craigsville.

The other victims were: Joe McVey, Owen Wyatt, Kyle Spencer, Henry Westfall, and Ralph Adams, all of Craigsville; William Anderson and Harry Fletcher, both of Camden-on-Gauley; Pete Weese of Richwood; Henry Bryant of Summersville; Howard Chaffin of Fenwick; and Donald Davis of LaFrank.

State Mines Director Crawford L. Wilson said all the evidence indicated a gas ignition.

Camden to Get Furniture Plant

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — A plant to manufacture juvenile furniture will be opened at Camden within the next two weeks, it was announced yesterday.

Walter Lancy, president of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, said the Reg-More Manufacturing Co. would employ 15 to 20 Camden residents in its operation.

The company also has a plant at Prescott.

New Pope Asks All Rulers to Work for Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII appealed to rulers of nations today to heed the world's cry for peace and to turn weapons of destruction into tools of progress.

"This is in fact the most important undertaking, mostly connected with the prosperity of all mankind," he said in his first papal broadcast.

"Put yourselves, therefore, to the task with confident courage, under the reflection of the light that comes from on high, and with divine assistance turn your gaze to the people who are entrusted to you and listen to their voice."

The new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church broadcast his appeal from the Sistine Chapel where less than 20 hours earlier he was named successor to Pope Pius XII.

His call was in the tradition of Pius XII who in his 10 year reign became known as the "Pope of Peace."

The 76 year old Pope, until Tuesday Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, patriarch of Venice — spoke in Latin for 20 minutes in a firm, powerful voice.

He prayed to God for strength in his new task and asked the Virgin Mary for assistance. A few minutes before his broadcast he received the homage of 51 cardinals gathered in the chapel.

"He devoted the first parts of his talk to the tasks of the church, he implored ecclesiastical grace for the clergy and faithful in countries where the Catholic religion has no freedom or enjoys it only in part, a reference to Communist lands."

Then he said: Let us now be permitted to direct our appeal to the leaders of all nations in whose hands are placed the fate, the prosperity, the hopes of the individual peoples.

"Why should not discords and disagreements be finally composed equitably? Why should not the resources and the ingenuity of man and the riches of the peoples, used frequently to prepare arms — pernicious instruments of death and destruction — be used to increase the well-being of all classes of citizens, particularly of the needy?"

"We know it is true that in bringing about so laudable, so praiseworthy a proposition and to level the differences there are grave and intricate difficulties in the way, but they must be victoriously overcome, even if by force."

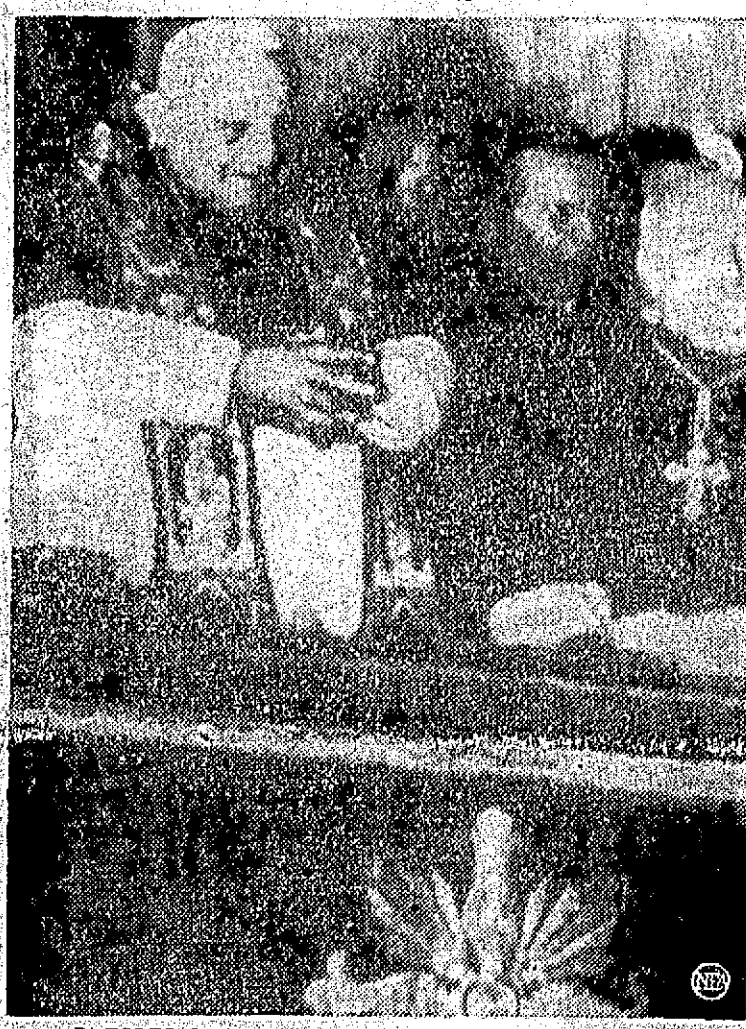

His quickness in going before the radio to give his thought to the world was taken as a sign that he intends his reign to be a dynamic one. Radio was one of the means frequently used by his predecessor to give his messages to the world and to try to reach the peoples of Soviet Russia, Red China and Cuba.

Folks Weren't Seeing Things

ATTRACTING a lot of attention at Hope Auto Co. this morning was this Brown Swiss bull which has three eyes and four horns. The bull was recently shown at the Louisiana State Fair. The exhibitors, Harvey B. Williams, left, and John L. Williams, right, and Arthur W. Hansen, of Minneapolis, Minn., the truck carrying the freak of nature is being repaired at the Ford Co. garage. Look closely and you can see a second eye which is closed due to the flash used in taking the picture. The third eye has about a third visibility. Three horns are right together.

Busy Day in Testing Series in Nevada

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — What could be the busiest day in the 13 years of nuclear tests opened with an atomic bang in the wee hours today.

Detonation of a relatively small atomic weapon — first of five tests scheduled for today — lit up the dark desert sky shortly before dawn.

The test, the oft-postponed Magma, had power equal to not more than 1,000 tons of TNT.

Five tests, including a whopper underground blast, were scheduled in a speeded-up program to beat the Friday test deadline.

Forestry Day at Laneburg on Nov. 6

Forestry Day will be held at Laneburg on Thursday, Nov. 6, under supervision of the FFA and 4-H boys, announced Assistant County Agent Jack W. Cyness of Nevada County.

The program starts at 9:30 a.m. and ends at 2:30 p.m. Lumber firms and pulpwood dealers in the area will furnish lunch for visitors. The public is invited.

Former Resident of Hope Dies in Phoenix, Arizona

Mrs. Leonard G. Kennedy, aged 53, a longtime resident of Hope, died Tuesday night at a Phoenix, Ariz. hospital. She had lived in Arizona for the past two years.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy McKemie, Mrs. Anita Hawkins and Mrs. Doris Charrier, all of Phoenix.

Services will be announced by Herndon & Cornelius.

Des Arc Timber Worker Killed

BRINKLEY, Ark. (AP) — A Des Arc timber worker was killed by a falling tree near Brinkley yesterday.

The victim was Elmer Clark, 68. He and a group of other workers were clearing a patch of woods about four miles west of here.

Sheriff's officers quoted Clark's companions as saying one of the trees had been sawed through and had fallen against an upright tree. They said a gust of wind blew down the cut tree and it struck Clark, apparently killing him instantly.

The workers were collecting timber for a sawmill near Brinkley.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Herman G. Griffithville, and a daughter, Mrs. Lowell Warrick of Pine Bluff.

A Dozen Trapped Miners Still Alive After 6 Full Days

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (AP) — Twelve men have been found alive on the 13.00 foot level of No. 2 colliery here. A mine official said "there may be more."

The men had been trapped since Thursday night.

Rescue crews said they talked to the trapped men through a six-inch pipe.

A total of 70 miners still are in the depths of the mine. At least 23 are known to have been killed when a massive heave of the earth sent rock and coal tumbling into tunnels.

The trapped men told rescuers "there are 12 of us here. Come and get us."

Mine officials said the men were 60 feet away behind a heap of rock and debris. They estimated the men would be reached about midnight or in the early hours of Thursday morning.

All hope had been given up for any survivors.

Hot liquids were sent into the mine. They will be given to the men through the tube.

It was not known whether any other trapped miners were alive. The trapped miners are the bottom of the 13,000-foot level.

Alabama Vote Act Upheld by U. S. Judge

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge today upheld the controversial legislative act which all but eliminated Negro voting in Tuskegee, Ala.

U. S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson, Jr., threw out a complaint filed by a group of Tuskegee Negroes challenging the constitutionality of the 1957 law which rearranged city boundaries of Tuskegee.

"The legislative act virtually halted Negro voting in Tuskegee by excluding all predominantly Negro residential areas from the city limits."

As a result, only 10 registered Negro voters were left inside the city in contrast to the 420 who voted there before the act was passed. The 600 white voters in the city were left undisturbed.

The Negroes who challenged the law claimed it deprived them of their rights guaranteed by the federal constitution.

Johnson said that regardless of the motive of the Legislature in enacting the law, "this court has no authority to declare such act invalid after measuring it by any yardstick made known by the Constitution of the United States."

"This court has no control over, no supervision over, and no power to change any boundaries of municipal corporations fixed by a duly convened and elected legislative body."

He termed the current federal law system a "destroyer of incentives" and "a principal barrier to the starting and developing of small businesses."

Lightner's address followed a morning forum in which five members of Arkansas congressional delegation faced a group of state business leaders for questions and a discussion period.

The congressmen were Sen. John L. McClellan and Rep. William Mills. Orrin Harris, Brooks Hays and W. F. Norrell.

In an address yesterday William A. McDonnell, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, forecast good business conditions for the next few months.

McDonnell told delegates to the meeting the recovery from the recent economic recession had been "remarkable."

Hays Will Talk Once More to Dist. Voters

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) said today he would make one or more televised speeches before next Tuesday's general election in support of his nomination for a ninth term.

Hays faces opposition from Dale Alford, a member of the Little Rock School Board, who will make the race as a write-in candidate.

The congressman said he would re-define the issues and review his position. He told newsmen he had consulted with advisers after returning to Little Rock from Nashville, Tenn., last night, and they were making arrangements for his television appearance.

Alford, an announced segregationist, has charged Hays with a lack of aggressiveness on the issues of racial integration.

Hays said Alford's written decision took him by surprise.

"While in competition, unless there has been a change in the nominee's position, it is an attack on the party primary system which would destroy party responsibility and deprive people of their rights as party members and citizens," the congressman said.

Alford is a lifelong Democrat.

Hays said he would spend tomorrow at Russellville visiting his father, Steele Hays, 88, who is ill.

The congressman reiterated that his position as a moderate had not changed.

Sees No Way to Halt Migration From the South

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers said today there is no way of halting the migration of Southerners to other states.

"The only thing I could recommend is to build the kind of community that will 'hold' and attract both people and industry," said Milton C. Lightner, who also is board chairman of Senior Manufacturing Co., Elizabeth, N.J.

Lightner said he believed Arkansas was doing its utmost to lure new industry and at the same time retain its workers.

"I am a great believer in Arkansas and a booster of the state," he told the annual meeting of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Arkansas, Inc.

"Your Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and State Chamber of Commerce are doing a splendid job in bettering the economy of Arkansas by bringing in new industry," Lightner said.

He praised Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the AIDC, for lending his "support and wealth to the state's industrial program."

Lightner said the case for more capital investment in the South is underscored by the growth of migrations to other parts of the nation and added that "the inadequate supply of venture capital is the basic financial problem of our time."

He said there is a choice between capital investment and inflation, and that "so far we have chosen the line of least resistance and the greatest danger — inflation."

Lightner contended the only way to sustain high level economic growth is through capital investment, but this channel of development "must first be cleared by income tax rate reform."

He termed the current federal law system a "destroyer of incentives" and "a principal barrier to the starting and developing of small businesses."

Lightner's address followed a morning forum in which five members of Arkansas congressional delegation faced a group of state business leaders for questions and a discussion period.

The congressmen were Sen. John L. McClellan and Rep. William Mills. Orrin Harris, Brooks Hays and W. F. Norrell.

In an address yesterday William A. McDonnell, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, forecast good business conditions for the next few months.

Pasternak Has to Refuse a Nobel Award

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Author Boris Pasternak today refused to accept the Nobel Prize for literature. He referred to "the society I live in."

Pasternak sent a cable to Dr. Anders Osterlund, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy, which awards the literary Nobel prizes.

"Because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in, I ought to say no thanks to the undeserved prize awarded me," Pasternak said. "Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will."

Osterlund received a cable from Pasternak Saturday expressing his gratitude at the Nobel award.

That cable read: "Immensely thankful, touched, proud, astonished."

Quemoy Again Shelled by Red Chinese

By GENE KRAMER

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communist artillery shelled Quemoy again today but there was a noticeable easing of tension over the offshore island crisis.

AP correspondent David Lamm, on Quemoy, said the Communist artillery fired sporadically through the morning.

Wednesday was an odd-numbered day, meaning unlimited shelling under the Reds' strange announced new tactic. They said they would not fire on even-numbered days into Quemoy's landing areas and invited the Nationalists to ship in supplies then.

There were these signs of a slack in tension:

1. U. S. Navy destroyers of the Formosa Strait patrol have stopped movements inside the miles of coastal waters claimed by Red China. It was learned that the Red two days, Peking has issued none of its "serious warnings" that its 12-mile limit was being violated.

2. The chief Nationalist military spokesman, Rear Adm. Liu Hsiung, said the Communist shelling now was viewed as a nuisance bombardment to save face "because the Communists have known since the second week of their offensive (in September) that their chance to invade Quemoy was gone."

3. U. S. Secretary of State Dulles declared in Washington that Red China seems to be "trying to save themselves from a loss of face and a defeat in the effort which they initiated but had been unable to conclude successfully."

seems as though, at least for the moment, they do not want to raise up the level of their military effort.

Junior Rifle Club Meets at Armory

The Hempstead Junior Rifle Club will meet Wednesday night at 7 at the National Guard Armory.

The Rifle Club is going into its sixth year as an NRA affiliated club. Over 500 awards have been issued to club members over the past five years for advancement in marksmanship.

The club's primary objective is to teach gun safety to young shooters and secondly to teach marksmanship.

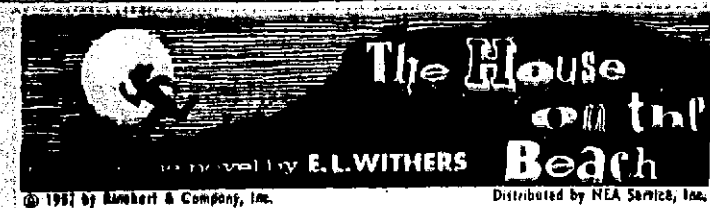

"The club is open to any boy or girl 10 years of age or older who is interested in gun safety and rifle marksmanship. Dues are 50¢ per year and shooting costs are held to a bare minimum."

The club annually shoots in the Junior Sectional Rifle Tournament at Henderson, Texas sometime in early spring. The club has brought home 50 club and individual awards from Henderson in the past three years.

A new 100 yard High Power Rifle Range has been built against the west fence of the Fair Park just beyond the Legion Baseball Field for the benefit of the public. As soon as signs are completed, Range rules will be posted alongside the range and the public is asked to follow these rules to the letter to keep our range a safe range.

The range has an elevated firing pit at 50 and 100 yards and the backstop is capable of stopping any High Powered Rifle bullet. This range has been built for everyone to use and for everyone's benefit. Anyone convicted of carelessness will be denied the privilege of using the range. No one under 18 will be permitted to use the range unless accompanied by an adult.

THE STORY: Katherine has found a red leather book in a drawer in the room of her stepfather Paul. The book listed what he did each day, but the page dealing with the date when Katherine's mother accidentally drowned while swimming was torn from the book.

Chapter VII

Katherine looked at her watch. It was a quarter past 11. She went over toward the door and opened it. Rex was sitting just outside, his tongue hanging out of his mouth, waiting for her. She thought: If anyone had come along and seen him sitting there, he would have known that I was in there. She was still very excited. Rex wagged his tail and stood up.

She closed the door to Paul's room, and then remembered that it had been open earlier, and thought that she must be careful to leave everything just as it had been before. She looked back into the room. The closet door was standing wide open now, and it had only been open a few inches before. She went in and closed it most of the way. Everything else seemed to be in place. She still had the page hidden in her hand.

Rex was following her around, panting at her heels. She went down the hall to her own room, and closed the door. She thought: What could he have written on the page that could make him tear it out? And what did he do with it once he'd gotten it torn out? Is it still in that room? No, if he tore it out and went to that much trouble, he wouldn't leave it lying around now. Maybe he's torn it up, or burned it. If he has, then I'll never know what was on it. It must have been something bad, though, something dangerous, something that committed him to the windows.

She thought: If he kept that page — if — where would be the likeliest place for him to hide it? It could only find it, I might have some way to defend myself. He might not dare to do anything to me as long as I had the paper. She looked about her own room, trying to imagine where she would hide a piece of paper. She could take the backing off a picture, and put the paper in, and then put the backing on again. Or she could put it inside another book where no one would be likely to look for it. She thought: Will I have to go through every book in the house to see if he's hidden it in one of them?

And then she thought: But I wouldn't take me six months if it just happened to be in the right book. He'd have thought of that in advance. He'd know that I might search his room, or even search the whole house. If he hasn't destroyed it, he's keeping it someplace close to him all the time. He's carrying it around in his pocket.

She looked down at the beach and the water again, and saw Paul swimming in the frothy waves. She thought: He went down to the little bathroom to undress so he could keep an eye on his clothes while he's swimming. Usually he undresses up here and just walks down in his bathing suit. It's in his pocket.

She started pacing back and forth, while Rex laid his head down on his paws for an instant, closed his eyes, and then got up and began sniffing around the room behind her. After a second he disappeared into the closet, and she called to him absently: "Come out of there."

He came, carrying a shoe in his mouth as if it were a puppy. He shoes were his most favorite toys, and at times were to be found strewn by him conveniently from end to end of the house. She said, "Give it here," and bent down and took it out of his mouth. He looked at her reproachfully as she tossed it back onto the floor of the closet and shut the door.

She hardly noticed what she was doing. She thought: I really might go swimming. He's expecting me. But what about going in to the water with him? She'd be going just what he wanted her to do, placing herself squarely in his hands. If I go down in my clothes, the way he did, and undress there — of course, I'd have to do it in the other dressing room — but still, if he's in the water I might be able to sneak over into his dressing room, without being seen.

It was the only possible plan which suggested itself to her. She thought: If he does see me, if he catches me while I'm searching, it will be all up with me. There won't be anything I can do then.

I'll just have to take the risk and as to going swimming with him, if I find the paper, I can think of some reason to come back up to the house, and if I don't find it, maybe I'm wrong.

Down the hall she heard Amy straightening up one of the other bedrooms. She went out into the hall and along to the doorway of Paul's room. She thought that she should take at least such precautions as she was easily able to, and she said loudly, trying to hide a shake in her voice, to mask the importance of what she was saying, "I'm going swimming now."

Amy came toward her, her arms outstretched, saying: "Oh, my poor baby. My little lamb-kin..." She was almost in tears. "It's all right," said Katherine, still in that loud, clear, unnatural voice. "Don't worry about me. Paul's down there. He told me to come down." She wanted to add, "So if anything happens to me, you'll know it was because of him," but she didn't say it.

Katherine went to her own room, got her bathing suit, and went to the windows and pressed the button.

Chapter VIII

She went down the slope of the lawn, peering out against the glare of the water to find Paul. He was a little way out from the land, still floating and diving. He saw her as she got to the beach and when she was within earshot, he called to her, "Are you coming in?"

"Yes. In just a minute." He dived again, and she came around in front of the bathhouses, looked at them both appraisingly, and then went into the empty one.

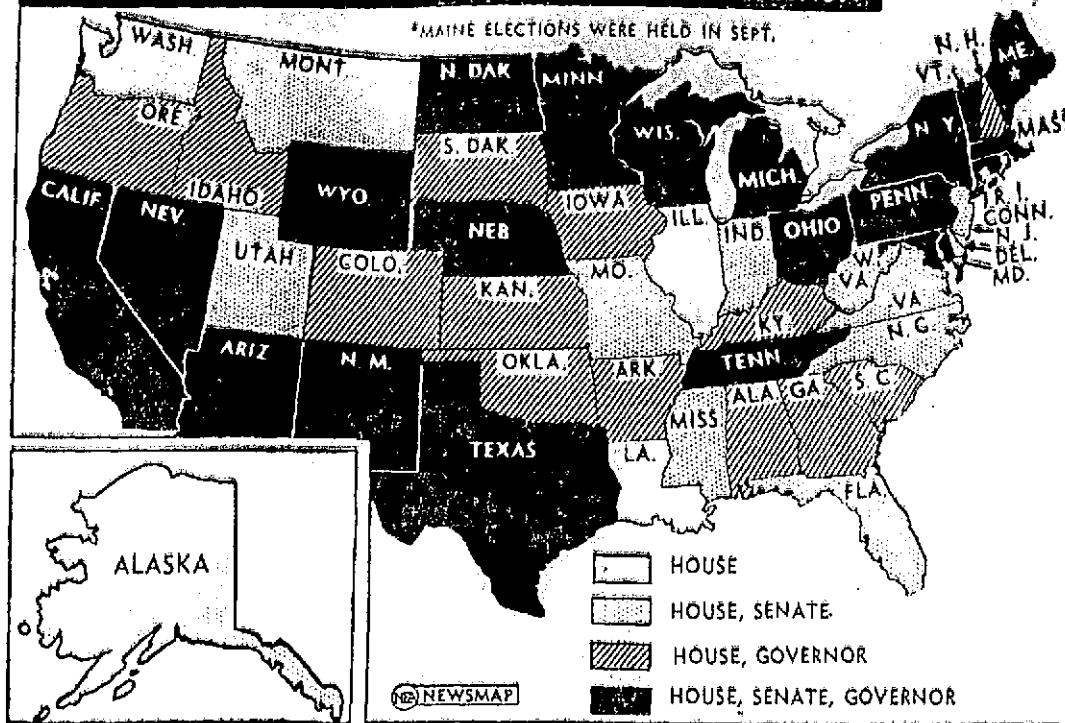

But finally, when she had gotten into her bathing suit, she could no longer wait. She cupped the blotting paper for Monday in her hand, went over to the door, and began very slowly and carefully to open it out, only a millimeter at a time, her arm shaking with the tenseness of not jerking the door; and when she had gotten it two or three inches open she looked cautiously out through the crack.

Paul had gone much farther out, and was still swimming away from her. She could see the back of his dark head rising and falling in the water with each stroke he took.

She darted outside, forcing herself along just as she would have forced herself into a cold shower, pushed the door closed behind her with one hand, raced across the stretch of beach to the other bathhouse, and pulled at the door handle.

The dressing room was just like the one she had left, a simple

WHAT THE STATES WILL BE VOTING FOR ACROSS THE NATION.

A BIG OFF-YEAR ELECTION—Newspaper above shows what type of election each state in the United States will hold in November. Citizens of every state will be called on to vote for members to the House of Representatives; 33 states will elect senators; and 33 will also choose governors. Alaska's election of two senators and one representative is a necessary prelude to its becoming officially the 49th state. Maine has already elected a senator and governor.

square, white box, six feet in each direction. The door was on the front, facing the water, and the walls, instead of being solid, were louvered all around to let the air blow through. The louvers slanted down from the inside, so that no one could see in, but that from inside looking down the slant she could see three or four feet of the sand around the building.

She straightened up and went over toward the clothes hanging on the door. Something outside the louvers caught her eye, and she stopped and looked out. Rex was standing just outside, watching the building, panting, wagging his tail, and waiting for her to come out.

She hissed at him, "Go away! Get away from here!"

She glanced out through the slanting louvers and did not see Rex. He must have gone away; that was lucky, in any case. She was holding the trousers. She dug her hand into the pockets.

She thought: But it's got to be here someplace. It's got to be here someplace. What could that spell? 2:00 — Sw-m-m-g... She knew the that she had searched every conceivable spot and caught sight of her own weebone, pulled face in the little square mirror that hung on the rear wall. Her expression in the reflection was so baffled that she could almost smile at it. She did smile experimentally; then she stuck out her tongue at herself, and at that second she thought incoherently. The mirror... the blot...

She held it up to the mirror. In the reflection the blot began to coalesce into one word. It was on the line for two o'clock. Then it must have been a two-o'clock appointment. That was about the time when her mother had gone swimming. She couldn't quite make out the letters, though. It looked like a capital S. Yes, S... or was it a W? Then there was a smudge; she couldn't make anything out of that. And then another W? Or was it m? And then there was a long smudge, and at the end it looked like... ng.

She looked thoughtfully away from the mirror, and then back to it. What could that spell? 2:00 — Sw-m-m-g... She knew the answer even before she understood it or admitted it to herself. Sw-m-m-g. Swimming. Paul had gone swimming at two o'clock on the afternoon her mother was drowned!

But he hadn't gone swimming. He'd been out in the car most of the afternoon. He'd said so to everyone. But then why had he really been swimming? Had he been there when her mother was drowning? But if he had... if he had... then...

Her eyes drifted down to the louvers. Just outside, not six inches away on the other side stood two long, brown, muscular legs, with black hair twining on them, immobile as the legs of a statue, the toes dug into the sand, waiting. Waiting and listening to her breathing, to the beating of her heart. He was close enough to her that she could almost feel his breath on her face. The legs did not move. They just stood there, waiting, waiting. She had walked into a trap.

Then, distantly in the back of her ears, she heard something. Her mind had been wallowing in

Jury Airs Robberies at North Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Pulaski County Grand Jury yesterday heard 14 witnesses in an apparent investigation of two North Little Rock cases, one a $12,000 robbery and the other a fatal shooting.

The first case involved the robbery of William Bailey Ferguson at his North Little Rock home last Dec. 19.

Two men arrested in other states previously were charged in the Ferguson holdup.

Extradition has been granted by Illinois for Charles Jefferson Hollis, 35, and by Missouri for John Francis Kinney, 47, but neither has yet been returned to Arkansas.

The second case was referred to the Grand Jury by North Little Rock Municipal Court, where Capt. Duane Rosenkjar, 33, of the Little Rock Air Force Base was charged with murder in the death of Leslie B. Gann, 34.

Gann was killed last May 28 at the Rosenkjar home. The captain told police that he returned home unexpectedly and found Gann in his house as a guest of his wife.

the horrible silence, and something had come through to her. She straightened up a little, let go of the doorknob, and listened intently, trying to isolate what the sound was. It was very far away, though the rushing of the waves; it was a very faint hum in the distance. Someone had pushed a button in the house and the long glass panels were sliding open.

Someone was coming out onto the terrace. Maybe it was Aunt Millicent. Maybe she had returned from town. Maybe she would come down to the beach. Paul wouldn't dare do anything with someone else around.

Methodists Open a Two-Day Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) About 800 Arkansas Methodists open a two-day meeting here yesterday to discuss what they might do to help fill the "spiritual hunger" of America's 70 million non-churchgoers.

Dr. George Fallon of Cleveland, Ohio, addressing the Arkansas Convocation on Evangelism, said "no one technique is adequate. We must attempt to find relative patterns and techniques the best we can."

Laymen, he said, hold the key to evangelical success.

China and other Communist-dominated lands. The new Pope is expected to be crowned within three weeks. The jeweled, three-tiered tiara of the papacy, topped by golden orb and cross, perhaps will be placed upon his head Sunday, Nov. 9, in the climax at St. Peter's Basilica of the drama that began with the fatal illness of Pope Pius at Castel Gandolfo.

Vatican authorities prepared today for the coronation, the most colorful ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church, while messages of congratulation and best wishes poured in from chiefs of state and government heads of many nations.

ished, abashed. Today's cable indicated that in the meantime something had happened to Pasternak to change his mind. The author of the novel "Doctor Zhivago," which is critical of communism, has been under rigorous attack in the Soviet press.

Pasternak was named for the award last week. The Soviet press asserted the selection was an anti-Soviet political maneuver. Pravda, the official Communist party paper, heaped abuse on Pasternak and "Doctor Zhivago." It said he should reject the $41,420 cash prize if there were "a spark of Soviet dignity left in him."

The Nobel Prize Committee presented the Russians with a dilemma. It awarded the Prize in Physics Tuesday to three top-ranking Soviet scientists — P. A. Cherenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor E. Tamm. The question was: would the Soviets let the scientists accept the physics award and at the same time keep Pasternak home? The answer appeared in the Soviet press in Moscow today. The Russians were setting up a double standard on the Nobel prizes.

It said the physics award was fitting but at the same time it said it proved that the award for literature was dictated by "reactionary political aims."

"Doctor Zhivago" has never been published in the Soviet Union, but it is being widely read abroad.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory was established in 1932.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Buddy Neel, son, Lynn, and new baby, Wayne, arrived back home Sunday from Arkadelphia where Wayne was born, October 22.

Mrs. R. W. Bayless of Gurdon is visiting her daughter, Mrs. K. G. Hamilton and Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lewis are in Dallas where he is attending the fashion market.

Mrs. F. M. Horton and Mrs. Jim McKenzie left Tuesday for Batesville. There they will be the guests of Mrs. Lynn Ross, and they will also visit P. E. O. chapters in several Northeast Arkansas cities.

James H. Jones, superintendent of the Hope Public Schools, and Mrs. Joe Amour, Senior English instructor at Hope High, were among the representatives from 30 Arkansas high schools on hand for the third annual Freshman-Principals conference held at the University of Arkansas, Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. James H. Jones and Mrs. Webb Laseier, Jr., visited their sons, Jimmy and Webb, and viewed the university campus when they were in Fayetteville, Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thell Joplin, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kelly, and Mrs. Mary Sue Evans are in Dallas until Thursday at the fashion market and to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones. They are being joined by Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Kirkpatrick of Denton, Texas.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS—The envy of its brethren in their foxholes, this fox cub joins his two pals at bedtime in their Richwood, Tex., home. The boys are seven-year-old Turney Vidovic, left, and brother Barry, 10. They found the cub in a field when it was only nine days old. They named it Brigitte Bardot.

DOROTHY DIX

Trick Won't Make Lover Ring Belle

Dear Dorothy Dix:

You're an experienced woman. Will you give me a very frank answer to a very frank question? How can I persuade my lover to marry me? I'm willing to resort to any trickery. Here's the story. I'm 41 single, and desperately in love with a man who insists that we're perfectly happy the way we are and don't have to bother with legalities. We've been living together for three years. He further claims that marriage would spoil our perfect relationship. He reminds me that now he comes to see me from choice, and because he really loves me. If he had to come home to me the compulsion would kill our love. He argues so persuasively that I can't get an angle. Would it help to pretend I'm pregnant? — Distressed.

Dear Lady: You can't change your lover's views. He established his position when he propositioned you. A man who proposes house-keeping without matrimony is serving notice that he regards the association as a temporary arrangement. To be terminated at his will. He leaves himself free to kiss and go without incurring alimony. You are perfectly well aware of this. You know it now, you knew it when you accepted the offer. So why wall about it? Trickery won't work either. The man mentions that a stork may land will put wings on your lover's heels and he'll fly away quicker than a Cape Canaveral missile. Instead of the help you want, I can only repeat what I've told many other ladies in your position: "You'll never see the world through a wedding ring."

Dear Dorothy Dix: Recently we acquired color TV — and that's when our troubles began. Friends whom we haven't seen in years began dropping in and we average at least two visitors every night, as there any way I can discourage this? — K.

Dear K: I'm afraid this is a penalty you must pay for having something new, novel and intriguing. If I knew your address I'd call myself; I have yet to see color TV. If you can recall television's early days, with the post card sized screen, you will remember that the same social dilemma existed. Everyone was curious. Few could afford TV, and people flocked to any home where a set was on display. Cheer up; in time the novelty will wear off, more people will own color sets and you can again retire to oblivion.

Dear Dorothy Dix: The thorn in my flesh is an older sister, 23, who is my self-appointed monitor. If she doesn't like my girl friends, she tells Mom they don't have good reputations. Now honestly, I wouldn't go with anyone who had bad habits or kept questionable company. I think my sister is jealous of me because I have lots of friends and she never had many—Anne.

Dear Anne: Appeal to your mother's sense of justice and ask her to inquire among her friends and see if anyone has a bad word for your pals. Since you and your friends go to the same school, the next meeting of the PTA would be a good time to check.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I went with a married man for three years and last winter I had his baby. I told him the baby died — the first lie I ever told him. Now I have a chance to marry another man. Should I tell both men the truth or keep my mouth shut? — G. L.

Dear G. L.: Only a super-duper counterespionage could keep secrets like this. You can't keep a baby under cover forever. Tell all — and fast!

Fire Alarm Box Is Removed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Workmen yesterday removed an outside fire alarm box which had been responsible for three false alarms in two days at the Capitol Hill School.

W. D. Harner, principal of the Negro school, had decided the alarm box either was defective or was accessible to young pranksters. The false alarms had caused the school to be emptied needlessly in each instance.

While the offending device was being removed, there was another false alarm and another evacuation of the school.

Workmen had accidentally tripped the alarm while taking it down.

9,000 School Fund Letters Sent Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—About 9,000 letters soliciting funds for the a month. Baucum made his way to Butte and married a girl there. They are expecting a child.

The fugitive said his wife was upset when she learned about his past but agreed "it was the right thing for me to come back and get the past cleaned up."

He had served 3½ years of a five-year-to-life sentence for a San Francisco grocery holdup when he escaped and could have been paroled within a few months.

The escape will add another sentence of one year to life. "I'm going into this with my eyes open," Baucum said.

"When I get out I will be a free man, and I can start a new life without being afraid to look at myself in the mirror."

When the escaper decided to give himself up, he went to his father, John Baucum, owner of a television and radio repair shop in John Day, Ore. The two conspired San Francisco attorney Harold W. Tobin about surrendering.

The Chronicle did not say how it contacted the fugitive but it did print a picture of him with his father and a San Francisco attorney.

Little Rock Private School Corp. have been sent from Gov. Orval E. Faubus' office and one of his aides said today response was "very good."

"I'd say contributions picked up considerably when the letters began circulating," said Arnold Sikes, executive secretary to the governor.

The letters, bearing the signatures of Faubus and Dr. T. J. Roney, corporation president, called donations in order to "establish private schools in private facilities with private funds" in Little Rock.

The corporation does not issue regular reports on how much money it has received, but Roney said over $100,000 had been contributed through last week.

Half a dozen workers spend eight hours daily getting the letters out. They are being sent to persons who wrote Faubus, praising his handling of the integration situation here.

Sikes said it had not been decided at this time how many of the letters would be circulated, but Faubus said recently that he has received 600,000 pieces of mail from persons supporting him.

Faubus said "maybe 50,000, maybe 100,000" letters would be mailed.

are completely in sympathy in us," the governor said. "I feel they would like the opportunity to give financial support."

Sikes said contributions still are coming in from all sections of the nation.

"The thing that surprises me is that we are getting a large amount of money from sections which already have integration," Sikes said.

News Briefs

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP)—A young man robbed the Landers store here of $119 late yesterday, then robbed residents of the area of a total of four fire arms.

Shortly afterward Don Lee Holt, 22, who has been living in the Truman area, was arrested and jailed on an open charge. Chief Deputy Sheriff Ray Holmes said the cash and the weapons were recovered.

The robber forced Charles Cooper, cler at the store, to give up the contents of the cash register.

Two guns were taken from the home of W. J. Jarrett, where the robber arrested the five Jarrett children as they approached the house from school.

Russell Cronwell and J. M. White were robbed of other guns at their homes.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Army Engineers here plan to open bids Dec. 2 for landscaping work at England Air Force Base, Alexandria, La.

Advance notice to bidders calls for furnishing and planting about 500 large trees, 750 small trees, 2,000 shrubs and other landscaping work in a four-month period.

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—A six-year old girl was injured fatally today when a car struck her on a highway in front of her home at nearby Waldenburg.

Annette McDaniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernie McDaniel, died at a Newport hospital several hours after the accident.

State Trooper Robert Cooper said the child had gone to her school, just across State Highway 14 from her home, and suddenly ran back toward the house.

The driver of the auto was identified as Millard Sullins, 37, of Hickory Ridge.

SWIFTON, Ark. (AP)—Burglars who broke into the Southland Chevrolet Co. last night couldn't get the safe open. But they stole a station wagon owned by former major league baseball star George Kell.

State Police Sgt. Bill Read said the thieves forced open a window, ransacked desk drawers and attempted to open the safe. He said the safe was damaged but the lock held.

Finding nothing of value in the company office, the intruders went into an adjoining shop. Kell's vehicle, which had been in for repairs, was gassed up and ready to go.

The burglars got in it and went.

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II opened a new session of Britain's ancient Parliament from her golden throne in the House of Lords today. It was a ceremony full of the pomp and pageantry carried over from the Middle Ages, but this one had TV.

For the first time the rites were thrown open to television cameras. Millions of viewers all over Britain and most of Western Europe watched.

The formalities were highlighted by the reading of the Queen's speech, a document written for the monarch by the elected government. It ranged lightly over almost every aspect of the government's program for the 1958-59 legislative year.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The leader of the Greek Cypriot underground war against the British declared in a holiday statement today the Greek Cypriot slogan from now on will be "Freedom or Holocaust."

Ex-Col. George T. Grivas, EOKA's chieftain, issued the declaration in leaflets as islanders of Greek blood observed the anniversary of "No" Day—the day 18 years ago when Greece rejected Mussolini's ultimatum and joined the Allies.

Grivas said "no" is now the answer to Britain.

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda today announced the death of Vladimir V. Lukyanov, secretary of the Communist party's Control Committee and a member of its important control auditing commission. He was 37.

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP)—The search for bodies in the death-filled Cumberland No. 2 coal mine continued at an agonizingly slow pace today. A great barrier of rock still entombed 72 miners in the depths.

Progress through the rock and debris left by Thursday night's thunderous underground upheaval was so slow there was no definite indication when the main group of bodies might be reached.

Officials held no hope for any of the miners still missing.

ALGIERS (AP)—French army units pursued local operations against the nationalist rebels in Algeria today, pounding particularly hard at the Grande Kabylie Mountain area. The area 100 miles east of Algiers is one of the major strongholds of the military resistance.

Bears Being Talked as the Bowl Selection

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The sweet smell of roses wafts throughout the University of California campus. But the Bear football team wants no part of the aroma.

Talk about the Rose Bowl and you get a stock reply: "We're taking them one at a time."

Maybe they are, but the Bears are in the driver's seat with a 3-0 Pacific Coast Conference record. They're favored to whip Oregon State (3-1) at Corvallis Saturday.

The PCC choice is far from decided. Stanford, sometimes up and sometimes down, is 2-1; Washington State is 3-2; and Southern California is 2-2.

Come Saturday night, after WSC plays UCLA, Southern Cal tangles with Stanford, and Oregon meets Washington (0-3), a new favorite could arise.

California hasn't been to the Rose Bowl since 1951. Their record was 1-9 last year.

The Bears have jelled in 1958. They lost to College of the Pacific and Michigan State, then won four straight.

The difference is Joe Kapp, a master of the split T, and a hard force to be expanded to 150 or 180 persons within 18 months.

New Pope Is Jovial Student of History

By STAN CARTER

VATICAN CITY (AP)—"The quiet after the tempest."

Thus priests of the archdiocese of Venice described Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli when he became patriarch of the canal city at the head of the Adriatic.

The portly new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church—henceforth to be known as Pope John XXIII—is a jovial man, a student of history, and a vigorous defender of public morals. At 76 he begins his reign later in life than any pope in 228 years. But his associates say he has a quick mind, a quick smile, good health and a determined character.

"I was born of poor parents," he told his new flock on his arrival in Venice in 1953. "Providence took me from my native hamlet and led me to travel the roads of the world, from east to west, putting me in contact with most serious social and political problems... (but) don't look at your patriarch as a politician or diplomat look at him as the servant of God."

He often invited his priests to dine at his table. He walked the city's twisted streets and rode the gondolas through its canals, winning the reputation of a tireless worker.

But his tolerance and good humor did not extend to certain facets of life in the pleasure-loving city.

He closed Venice's churches to tourists in shorts, saying, "Italy is not on the Equator, and even there, by the way, lions wear their coats and crocodiles are lined with their most precious hides."

He told the 1957 Venice Film Festival the movie industry must not limit itself to "presenting the decadence of modern customs... charging, hard-hitting line."

Kapp, 6-foot-2 quarterback, was named Associated Press Back of the Week Tuesday for his role in Saturday's 23-6 upset of Oregon.

He bucked a yard for one score, engineered two scoring drives, raced 92 yards for another touchdown and intercepted two passes.

Kapp says the difference between 1957 and 1958 is a year's experience under Coach Pete Elliott. He'll tell you his teammates rate the glory.

SIXTY-FIVE members of Shover Springs Church and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Fuller, surprised them with a pot luck supper at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Troy Greenlee, October 25, on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller were married at Bodaw in 1898 where they live until 1938, moving to Shover Springs their present home. Both are still active in community and church affairs, and well known for their singing in the Fuller family quartet. Mr. Fuller is 81 and she is 79.

Prescott News

Moviegoiners want to see more beautiful things."

He opposed the moving of the gambling casino from the seaside Lido to the center of the city, calling gambling a "grave disorder in itself, deplorable and to be condemned wherever it may be practiced, even if in secret."

Few of the new Pope's political views are on the public record. He has spoken against extreme left-wing socialism and like Pius XII can be expected to work unceasingly for peace. His motto as a cardinal was "Obedience and peace." But little or nothing is known about his views on the cold war, the space age, atomic bombs, modern science and other such subjects on which his predecessor in the Vatican often spoke.

The new Pope was born Nov. 25, 1881, in the Bergamo province village of Sotto il Monte, at the foot of the north Italian Alps 30 miles northeast of Milan. He was one of 10 children of Giovanni (John) Battista Roncalli, a poor farmer, and Maria Anna Mazzola.

Picks Bobcats to Overcome Camden Friday

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are three big Nine Conference games on this week's schedule, but none of them are key contests — unless a top-heavy favorite decides to lose.

The schedule makes the picking look easy, but that's no guarantee of success.

Since, fortunately, there is no requirement that we back these prognostications, either with our money or our job (translation meaning very little), here goes:

El Dorado 28, Texarkana 7; The Wildcats will not find the Porkers as easy pickings as they were for Fort Smith last week. But El Dorado has the horses, mules and whatever else it takes to rebound from that shocking tie with Little Rock Central.

Hot Springs 26, Blytheville 13: The Chicks are getting progressively tougher, but it's a wait till next year season for Blytheville. Hot Springs is one the way to one of its best showings in years and doesn't intend to be sidetracked.

North Little Rock 20, Pine Bluff 7: That's the way it ought to go. But the Wildcats seem to have an upset-weakness, this year. If anybody ever needed an upset, the Zobins do.

Memphis Central 30, Little Rock Central 13: The Memphis Warriors get sweet revenge for a long series of lickings.

Little Rock Hall 20, Morrilton 7: So the Warriors make it No. 7 and if they get past this one, they should have easy sledding until Nov. 21.

Fort Smith 24, Shreveport Fair Park 6: The Grizzlies may well be the best team in the state at this juncture. Fair Park couldn't handle El Dorado and they can't handle Fort Smith if the Grizzlies are right. And they've been right for the past three weeks.

Lake Conway: Clear, bass good on artificial bait; crappie fair on minnows.

Greason Lake: Large mouth bass good on plastic worms; white bass and large mouth bass good on top water lures.

Lake Hamilton: Clear and low, black bass fair to good on artificial bait; crappie fair on live bait; bream good on crickets and worms.

Yerger Tigers in Homecoming Saturday Night

The Yerger Tigers are preparing for their Homecoming game to be played Saturday night at Hammons Stadium. The Homecoming festivities starts Friday, with the crowning of the queen.

The Homecoming parade will be Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m. in downtown Hope. Bands from Lewisville, Stephens and Magnolia are expected to take part in Yerger's Homecoming activities. The Tigers will meet the Dragons of Stamps to climax the festivities at 8 p.m. Saturday.

There will be a variety of entertainment during the half-time by bands participating in the celebration. The Tigers, knowing this is their Homecoming, are all fired up and promise this to be a surprise for those who attend the game. The Tigers in a losing streak have all intentions of changing that Saturday night and would like to see all the boosters there. They have been working hard on a new formation and sharpening up on a few rough spots that might catch the Dragons off guard. Kick off time is 8 p.m.

Strange Doings But Here Is Grid Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A strange football weekend shook up the standings slightly in the Associated Press' fourth weekly rankings of Arkansas prep teams.

El Dorado, which led the three previous polls, retained first place despite being held to a 14-14 tie by Little Rock Central. But the Wildcats, who look all first place votes last week, got only two this week and their 64-point total was only four better than Little Rock Hall, which had one top ballot and 60 points.

Port Smith, 50-7 conqueror of Texarkana, vaulted over Hope into third place with three first votes and 57 points. The Bobcats, dropped to fourth with 48 points, edging Central, which had one first place tally and 45 total.

North Little Rock, 10-14 victim of Conway, dropped out of the first ten for the first time this year. The Wildcats were replaced in sixth by Little Rock Catholic, which advanced from seventh with 31 points.

Conway, ousted from the top ten two weeks ago, took 10th place, vacated by Idle Hot Springs.

De Queen moved into eighth, the first class A team to appear in the top ten, after a 23-0 rout of Smackover. The Leopards picked up 14 points. They were 11th Cooper eighth.

Following up Johnson's one-round knockout of Eddie Machen, London stopped Pastrano, of Morrilton, Fla., on cuts, and Cooper outpointed Polley, of Chandler, Ariz.

Here's the way the heavyweight 10 looks behind World Champion Floyd Patterson:

1. Johnson; 2. Valdes; 3. Foley; 4. Pastrano; 5. Machen, Redding, Calif.; 6. light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, San Diego; 7. London; 8. Cooper; 9. Sonny Liston, Philadelphia; 10. Pat McMurry, Tacoma, Wash.

Ray Harris, of Cut and Shoot, Tex., idle since he was stopped by Patterson; Argentina's Alex Mitoff and Canadian champion George Chuvalo of Toronto were ousted.

Don Jordan, to-ranking welterweight contender who earned a title fight by beating Gaspar Ortega of Mexico, was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring.

Two leading contenders in other divisions were demoted. Tony Anthony of New York replaced Philadelphia's Harold Johnson as the No. 1 contender in the light heavyweight class.

Piero Rollo, of Italy, the new European bantamweight champion, took over as the leading 118-pound contender, by defeating countryman Mario D'Agata.

Leo Espinosa of the Philippines, No. 1 a month ago, was demoted to second place. Espinosa lost his Oriental bantam crown to Japan's Keyoshi Miura, who moved into the rankings as No. 7.

Stone Goes Back to Spot at Halfback

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

With senior Donnie Stone definitely out of the picture, the competition for No. 1 fullback on the University of Arkansas team settles into a battle of sophomores.

Stone was put out of the running yesterday when Coach Frank Broyles shifted the ailing 183-pounder to right halfback.

That move left sophomores Joe Paul Alberly and Johnny Foe to scrap for the starting fullback post.

Alberly, a 173 pounder from Fort Smith, has shown steady improvement and appears to have the inside track.

Stone's position change came after a bout with a virus infection that has weakened him considerably. At right half he will run behind two other senior lettermen — Don Ritschel and Don Horton.

Broyles said it is doubtful that Stone will be able to play against Texas A&M Saturday. He played briefly against the University of Mississippi last Saturday but didn't dress out for practice yesterday.

Ike to Close GOP Drive on Friday Night

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, back from a three-state campaign tour, will close his drive for election of a Republican Congress with a nationwide television-radio address from Baltimore Friday night.

The President returned to the capital by plane early today after a day and half of tub-thumping for votes in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York.

The Baltimore address will climax what generally is regarded as the hardest hitting campaign of Eisenhower's political career. However, he pitched his political line on a less harsh note in New York Tuesday. He spoke of two rallies of party workers and urged election of Nelson A. Rockefeller as governor and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating to the U.S. Senate.

Rockefeller joined Keating in telling enthusiastic audiences of GOP workers that they as the ticket leaders were happy Eisenhower came to New York — and that his visit had helped them.

There had been talk that Rockefeller, a former foreign policy aide to Eisenhower, was something less than happy about having the President campaigning in the state.

Rockefeller a few days ago took what seemed to amount to a dim view of Eisenhower's new campaign technique — his attacks on the Democrats as left-wing radicals, as reckless spendthrifts, and as promoters of inflation-breeding schemes.

Shortly after the President's arrival in Manhattan, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty sought to scuttle talk of any discord.

Hagerty tagged as completely false reports that the GOP state organization and Rockefeller specifically — had urged against Eisenhower's making any major political speech in New York. The press secretary said the Republican National Committee had decided that the President's top campaign address in the East should be in Pittsburgh, where he spoke Monday evening, in his home state of Pennsylvania.

The first balloon ascension in the United States took place at Philadelphia in 1793.

EVERYBODY WINS—NOTHING TO BUY!
HERE IS ALL YOU HAVE TO DO:

Successfully trace a route along the white lanes on the puzzle below from starting point to the finish without running into a ghost or black cat. Bring your completed puzzle to our store, Thursday, Friday or Saturday and begin your Treasure Hunt.

DIRECTIONS

1. Trace your course from Starting point to Finish without running into a ghost or black cat.
2. Clip along dotted lines and bring to Collier Tire and Appliance, Thursday, Friday or Saturday; you will then be entitled to bust a balloon to see what Treasure you have won.
3. One entry per family — Adults Only.
4. Fill in coupon below.
